

Eleven very keen athletes turned up to take on the mountains and valleys of southern Coffs. However the hare Darcy was kind and kept it in the valleys, well storm drains to be exact. Darcy being a gentleman that he is, helped me cross the raging rivers, alright puddles but there were planks and I'm not too steady going forward and no I hadn't been drinking. We lost Bronco on the way however, I think he was looking at a new car, something along the lines well Slippery has a new one so why can't I. Anyway he found his way home to the delights of Thor's cooking. Thor put on a three course meal, starting with a cheese dip in a bread cob, I noticed that the first one was finished by the time the true athletes arrived home! Followed by mashed potato, peas, corn on the cob and chicken schnitzel and yes there was more, cupcakes for dessert. All I can say is, better than any restaurant I've been too, yum, yum and yum.
