

On a hot and steamy night 17 loud and proud Hashers turned up for the Monday night run. The dress was very colourful and the Hashers were champing at the bit ready to take off. Some responsible Hashers stayed behind to guard the premises and snack on the leftovers from Metro's party. All runners and walkers returned safely, some hot and sweaty while others strolled in looking colourful and cool.

All agreed that the run was extremely taxing with many hills, too much traffic and the abundance of wildlife on the bush paths. They all tucked into the pre-dinner snacks, chicken burgers and mud cakes.

- Shit of the Week : Metro Not sure whether it was that he was complaining that none of his "so called " friends rang to check if he was ok when the body was found in the harbour or if it was because it wasn't his body in the harbour.
- Charges

Luckless and Pharlap .. reverse charge from On Heat as she was falsely accused of not wearing Hash gear, evidently forgetting the colourful theme.

Pharlap for trying to bring rules into Hash

Thunder Box for his poor performance on Saturday night

Quickette for turning off Rugby broadcast but reversed the charge to Quickie as it was much more appropriate to keep on partying

Pharlap for being a try hard by wearing a too tight shirt

- Awards

Dick to Luckless who was a rose amongst the thorns but could now fit in

Salt and Pepper dicks to Forest for being whatever

Halo of dicks to Handy to torment her cat because it's scared of dicks

Nuts and bolts for Forest as he may need some more spare parts after his operation

Short cutters award to Bolt Arse who must learn to be louder on the run

Making bacon to Quickette to remind her of her dislike of bacon

Small boot award to Tic because of his need for more footwear or because he has small feet...who knows?

- PB

Forest off to Newcastle to get a recharge on his heart or something like that

Metro off to Tasmania and not returning for quite a while

- GB
