

BRONCO'S RUN – 5TH JULY 2021 – JETTY FORESHORES

22 intrepid hashers braved the cold for Bronco's run. A change of venue due to covid saw the group assemble at the jetty rather than the relative warmth of Bronco's man cave. Bronco had an arse to help him set the run, not that I'm calling Darcy an arse, just that he was returning the favour from when he was away in Victoria. The run was relatively short for Bronco's usual marathons – only about 3.5km BUT there were still hills. HOWEVER to add interest there were also smaller inclines, bush tracks and big arrows.

On their return there were dips, cheese and crackers to nibble on. Bronco eventually brought out a half dozen thermoses (didn't know anyone still had these) and proceeded to dish up piping hot water - oh and an array of Cup-a-soups with plenty of bread for dunking. It was discussed amongst the group and nobody could recall ever having been dished up self-serve Cup-a-soups at a hash run before – trust Bronco to think of this! There was some concern however, that seeing it was Bronco's run that this was all that was on offer. Some hashers even had 2 or 3 bits of bread just in case this proved to be correct. When the worst-case scenario seemed inevitable and the discussion was had about how he'd have had a lot of trouble spending the $60, Bronco appeared with a large box filled with surprisingly hot trays of Chicken and mushroom pasta bake and a bolognaise slice. Yes Slippery had saved the day!

CIRCLE

On to the downs and what a feisty circle it was! Greyrooter had excelled himself by reverting back to something with sasparilla in the jug. It was then revealed by Bronco that anyone who had a down also got a triple-choc bikkie to get rid of the aftertaste. And so it began, the rabble throwing out false charges and talking in the circle to try and get the ultimate prize of the triple-choc bikkie. At one stage the Choir Mistress was ready to resign because every time she started a song she was interrupted by people talking, arguing and generally being loud. She wasn't the only one ready to chuck it in – the RA definitely had trouble controlling the circle and was ready to walk off the job as well. This is what happens when triple-choc bikkies are involved (thanks Bronco)

Before the hare could even be charged, Quickie was heard to make a comment along the lines of “no way I'm taking my hat off in the circle – it's too bloody cold”. The RA was not impressed as unbeknown to Quickie, hats were to be allowed to stay on in the circle because of the cold. This was soon reversed so Quickie's bitching and moaning meant everyone had a cold head for the duration.

DOWNES & CHARGES

- Quickie – see above
- Bronco – Hare
- Darcy – Hare's Arse
- Hair Butt – returning runner
- Quickie (again) – postponing BO hash due to Covid restrictions rather than making a change of venue (you're going soft Quickie – real men go out in the cold!)
- Rearend, Cumz'n'Goes, Quickie (again!!!) and Greyrooter – street names (I think)
- Quickette – poor Quickie was miffed he couldn't see her legs because she had such a long coat on
- Metro – looking like a hobo, unshaven, dark clothes and beanie drinking something out of a brown paper bag

AWARDS

- Alky – “The Skwarking Chook” not calling out loud enough on the run for hashers behind to hear. PLEASE NOTE – Alky refuted this strenuously claiming she was the one who was calling out but she was eventually skwarked down by JFI (the awarder) and accepted the down knowing a triple-choc bikkie was to follow.
- Quickie (AGAIN!!) – Flaps had the shortcutters award that he lost the week before and presented it back to him - but rest assured he DID NOT get a triple-choc bikkie for every down he had!
- Pharlap - Academy award for his performance of the Terminator – he tried to knock down the newly heritage listed jetty

PERSONAL BUSINESS

- Netfanny not very well

GENERAL BUSINESS

- Quickie wants a train trip to Wauchope if anyone is interested
- Xmas in July still happening at this stage – names for Xmas pressies drawn next week
- Request by Dangles as to how many runs everyone has done – Lifer will liaise with Bedpan re the recording of runs and get an updated list

FRIDAY LUNCH

- Coffs Hotel 12.30pm

NEXT WEEKS RUN

- Rearenders – change of venue to be announced IF restrictions re numbers at home are not lifted otherwise 4 Mackays Rd as per usual
